DOCSCORP AND LAN INFOTECH PARTNER TO IMPROVE SERVICES FOR LAWYERS

Fort Lauderdale, Florida: September 27th 2010: LAN Infotech, Florida's leading IT consultants, has joined forces with DocsCorp, a global leader in productivity solutions for law firms. The pdfDocs productivity suite (pdfDocs Desktop, compareDocs, formFiller, OCR Server) provides PDF creation, collation, annotation, redaction, form filling, OCR, document comparison and binding capability to law firms.

DocsCorp chose LAN Infotech as their preferred partner for installation and implementation because of their technical expertise. LAN Infotech is the only partner in Florida that provides an installation and implementation service to lawyers on behalf of DocsCorp.

Commenting on the new partnership, Michael Goldstein of LAN Infotech said, "Although we work with many different market sectors, the legal industry is certainly one of our primary industries and we are delighted to partner with DocsCorp to help our legal customers support their clients with improved PDF solutions."

With the increased demand for lawyers to become more efficient and more organized, there is a growing need to automate all administrative tasks. The pdfDocs suite works the way lawyers work, integrating with the applications and systems they use every day. pdfDocs Desktop, for example, is designed to address issues specific to legal practice such as court filings in PDF/A, simple and reliable document redaction, integration with the firm's document repositories for end-to-end management of PDF content and PDF publishing of Closing Books to CD.

In addition, pdfDocs Desktop enables users to convert email attachments to PDF automatically upon sending to safeguard documents; redact, watermark, annotate, repaginate and create secure PDF files. It can also combine reports, emails, spreadsheets and web pages into a single PDF document that can be edited, redacted, secured and emailed directly from the pdfDocs Desktop application. The software provides a matter-centric PDF workspace that facilitates the import of all content related to the matter directly into pdfDocs Desktop from popular document management systems (Autonomy iManage, NetDocuments, Open Text eDOCS, DOCS Open, Worldox).

Bill Lipner, Regional Sales Director for DocsCorp, is excited about the new arrangement with LAN Infotech saying, "Our organizations work well together. LAN Infotech and DocsCorp are in the same business, which is to provide solutions to law firms. We're providing an essential set of components and LAN IT is providing the skills and resources to deliver and implement these components. It's a great match!

Lipner concluded by saying, "Our partnership with LAN InfoTech gives us tremendous depth in the legal solutions market in the southeast. This depth includes market reach as well as the resources needed to assure the pdfDocs suite is implemented successfully.
